WEDNESDAY EVENING, MARCH 7, 1900.

No Fear When Death Draws Nigh. "I have seen thousands of persons die under all sorts of circumstances, and never yet have I seen one display the slightest few of death." This re-markable statement was made the other day by a physician who has practiced many years in Philadelphia and who has seen a great deal of hospital

"It is a popular fallacy," he went on, "to imagine that a deathbed scene is ever terrible other than as a parting between loved ones. The fear of the unknown is never present at the last. Even amid ignorance and vice I have never experienced such scenes as a novelist who strives after realism will sometimes picture.

"When a patient is told that he cannot recover and the end is near, he invariably seems resigned to his fate, and his only thought seems to be of those who are to be left behind. This is true alike of men and women.

"Those who become hysterical and they are. They always get well.

"A psychological reason? Oh. I don't know that there is any. It's just a human trait."-Philadelphia Record.

"One of the differences between the east and the northwest," said a Puget sounder, "is the names of places, and the Skikomishes, the Snohomishes, the Snoqualmies, the Wahkiakums and the lot of them give a man funny feelings, the Northern Pacific railroad in Pierce county, Wash., he doesn't know whether it is Chinook or Siwash or what, But it is none of them-like Kenova, in West Virginia, which is near the junction of Kentucky, Ohio and Virginia, or Delmar, where Delaware and Maryland come together.

"Bucoda is a composite name, and its story is simple enough. When the Northern Pacific came in, a town sprang up, and it must have a name. There were Indian names in plenty. but something more novel was wanted, so Messrs. Buckley, Coulter and Davis, all N. P. officials, put their heads together first and their names later, and the name Bu-co-da was evolved, with an etymology very apparent to any one who is at all informed in terminology. Bucoda it has remained, and it is not half bad as names go in the Puget sound country."—New York Sun.

The Peculiar Jains. Ernest M. Bowden in The Nineteenth Century reports a chat with Raja Sivaprasad on Jainism. The Jains pay more regard to the feelings of the lower animals than any other sect in the world; will not kill them or injure them; are careful to avoid destroying even insects, sometimes wearing a handkerchief over the mouth to provent any living creature being breathed in. It may be argued that this tenderness will prove in the long run fatal to its possessors, 'andicapping them seriously in the st ggle for life with less scrupulous r. 's. As evidence to the contrar, fr. Bowden points to the Jains: "Notwithstanding the opposition, if not active persecutions, of bygone times, the one small sect which, more than any other in the world, ha taught and practiced the doctrine of calty. 'ahimsa.' or 'noninjury.' to living creatures, stands today, after some four and twenty centuries, by far the most prosperous community in a population verging on 300,000,000."

What to do Until the Doctor Arrives. It is very bard to stand idly by and see our dear ones suffer while awaiting the arrival of the doctor. An Albany (N. Y.) dairyman called at a drug store there for a doctor to come and see his child, then very sick with croup. Not finding the doctor in, he left word for him to come at once on his return. He also bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which he hoped would give some relief until the doctor should arrive. In a few hours he returned, saying the doctor need not come, as the child was much better. The druggist, Mr. Otto Scholz, says the family has since recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to their neighbors and friends until he has a constant demand for it from that part of the country. For sale by all druggists.

BY ELEVATING THE QUALITY of our coal we lower the price in economy of consumption. Consumers will find that it is cheaper to use our high grade Lee Coal, that has been screened and freed from state and stone, than that of an inferior grade. It gives more heat, less ashes and burns longer than any other coal, and our prices are as low as any. Coal and Wood under cover.
